

MAR/APR | ISSUE #2

capelle LIVES

BUILDING SUSTAINABLE IMPACT

With the changing perspectives globally, it is no longer about being progressive, it is crucial for organizations to recognize and address the gaps of sustainable business practices. At the same time, also consider how corporate strategies need to be sustainable for leadership and organizational renewal.

In this #2 issue of Capelle Lives, we bring you leaders who share their experiences on how building sustainable corporate strategies can impact the future.

POLL!

What Do You Think is Key to Build Sustainability that Impacts the Workplace?

VOTE HERE!

INSIGHTS

Sustained Learning through the 70:20:10 Learning Model

The 70:20:10 Learning Model has become one of the most adopted by organizations for sustained effectiveness. Using this model as a base, Capelle has designed an Action Learning solution to facilitate our work with NCSS.

Read Here →

INSIGHTS

Coaching - a Core Competency to Develop Future Leaders

As the workforce slowly populates with Gen Z workers, it is critical for organizations to be more prepared in anticipating what might be suited to develop young talents for leadership roles.

Read Here →

THOUGHT LEADERSHIP

Bridging the Dynamics of Strategizing and Organizational Learning: Part 2

By Dr. Yee Lai Fong

In the part 2 article, we complete the integration by stringing the third frame together in bridging the dynamics of strategizing and organizational learning...

Read Here →

LIVECHAT

What Change Management Really Means

Dr. Gog Soon Joo, Chief Skills Officer, SkillsFuture Singapore shares with us practical insights and personal steps on how she repurposed her team to be ready for the change required to meet deliverables and expectations.

LISTEN HERE

WATCH HERE

Read our Success Story: Improve Productivity for Sustainability

In the Social Service Sector, productivity is about reducing time spent on indirect work, and optimizing time for direct work.

FEATURED COURSE

Leveraging on Multigenerational
Teams

Find Out More →

UPCOMING WORKSHOPS

Negotiating Skills

11 & 12 April 2022

Register Now

Performance Management

21 & 22 April 2022

Register Now

Group Excellence

5 & 6 May 2022

Register Now