

JUL/AUG | ISSUE #4

capelle LIVES

AGILE TO ADAPT FOR THE FUTURE OF WORK

The world of work is changing, not only do we need to change our perspectives, we also need to be prepared for the future of work. More than just technological infiltration, the future of work might also suggest the different ways we work in terms of when and where work is done, what kinds of work is required, and who will have the skills to do the work.

Issue #4 of Capelle Lives explores the need to be agile and adaptable at different levels which are important components to future-ready ourselves for the future of work.

INSIGHTS

The Future of Work - Agility & Adaptability

With the emergence of new industries, a workforce that is agile and adaptable will be in high demand. We can anticipate that the future work environment will be radically different. The deeper question then is, “What will the future of work look like?”

Read Here →

THOUGHT LEADERSHIP

Adapting Across Cultures and Sectors in Leadership

Leadership is ultimately embodied and seen in how a person choose to live out his or her beliefs professionally and personally in different context. Mr. Larry Choi, an experienced and senior leader, shares his leadership journey through real encounters of his adaptation across different sectors and cultures to connect with people.

Read Here →

LIVECHAT

An Insightful Leadership Journey

“What remains unchanged for me throughout my leadership experiences is that people are people, wherever they work, whatever is the content of their work, and connecting with them in the best way possible is always important for a leader.”

These are the capturing words of Mr. Larry Choi, a highly experienced and inspiring leader, who has journeyed different culture in various sectors, and shares his leadership stories with us.

WATCH HERE

LISTEN HERE

LIVECHAT

Adapt & Grow Beyond Skills Competencies

Propelled by the global pandemic, the business environment has changed drastically. To keep up with this fast pace of change, growth is non-optional. Join Kim Tan, Head of Learning Design, as she shares about her insights on what it takes to have an adaptive growth mindset.

WATCH HERE

POLL!

What Do You Think Defines the Future of Work?

VOTE HERE!

UPCOMING WORKSHOPS

3-D People Development

5 & 6 Sep 2022

Register Now

Innovation & Change Management

15 & 16 Sep 2022

Register Now

Performance Management

3 & 4 Oct 2022

Register Now